Mr. Dulles:

I have talked to Col. Russ, Executive Officer at the National War College, about your lecture on 20 July and I told him that you would be driving over to the War College under your own power and that you would be leaving shortly after your talk is over and, therefore, you will not be attending the luncheon (the lecture is scheduled for 8:45 a.m.). I also told Col. Russ that your talk will be classified and that it would not be necessary for the War College to furnish any maps, graphs, charts or other visual aids material.
